1. Check Your Veins

Push your sleeves up and look at the veins on the inside of your wrist. Are they blue or green? If they look more blue, you likely have cool undertones. If the veins look greenish, you're warm.

2. The Jewelry Trick

Think about whether you look better in silver or gold jewelry. Typically, girls with cool undertones look better in silver and platinum metals, and warm-toned women look better in gold.

3. The Neutral Test

Think about what neutral shades flatter you best. Does your skin, eyes, and face look better in bright white and black hues, or ivory, off-whites, and brown/tan shades? If you fit the first category, you're probably cool-toned, and if the second category fits you better, you're probably warm.

4. Eye and Hair Color

Your natural eye and hair colors can help figure out your coloring. Usually, cool people have eyes that are blue, gray, or green and have blond, brown, or black hair with blue, silver, violet and ash undertones. On the other hand, warm-toned women usually have brown, amber, or hazel eyes with strawberry blond, red, brown, or black hair. Their hair tends to have gold, red, orange, or yellow undertones.

5. The Sun's Effects

When you're out in the sun, does your skin turn a golden-brown, or does it burn and turn pink first? If you're lucky enough to tan easily, you're probably warm-toned. But, if you're like me and burn easily you're most likely a cool tone.

Not all of these things may be true for your color tone. Just keep in mind that we are all bio-individuals, this is just a guideline to help you if you don't already know your skin tone.
